CEER Legal Training on Network Codes and Cross-Border Decisions

8-9 October 2015, Brussels

Course Overview

Designed for:

Legal experts from national regulatory authorities with legal background and previous experience in Network Codes and energy regulatory framework (with at least 2-3 years' experience).

Programme overview:

- Explore the state of play, the adoption process and the modification and monitoring process for Network Codes
- Discuss the lessons learnt from the legal perspective and exchange views with different stakeholders involving in the process
- Examine the legal challenges related to the implementation of Network Codes and the set-up of new entities foreseen by Network Codes
- Review the process for adopting cross-border decisions as a new European decision mechanism as well as discuss the peer review process
- Exchange experience on the legal challenges and participate in exciting discussions on the ongoing electricity and gas case studies on Network Codes and cross-border decisions

With a wide range of lecturers from the European Commission, the Agency for the Cooperation of Energy Regulators (ACER), the National Regulatory Authorities (NRAs), the stakeholders, law firm as well as academia, this course brings together senior experts working directly with legal processes and gives participants a unique opportunity to exchange experience with experts and colleagues from other NRAs.
